Experience Autumn in Wine Country

Fall is the perfect time to explore Washington's vineyards and tasting rooms during a visit to Wine Country. Sample delicious varietals amidst autumnal colors, enjoy comfortable temperatures, and explore lots of special events, including Fall Release Weekend in Walla Walla where you can be the first to sip new wines.

Outdoorsy Yakima Valley and Tri-Cities are perfect for wine enthusiasts who want to pair a fall escape with plenty of outdoor recreation opportunities. If you missed an event this year, don't despair. Put these annual festivities on your calendar for next year and see all that Wine Country has to offer during autumn.

Explore Small Towns in the Gorge Region

Quaint small towns are nestled throughout the Columbia River Gorge along the border with Oregon, providing great bases for outdoor recreation. In Stevenson, head to the Columbia Gorge Interpretive Center Museum to trace the history of the region and its First Peoples, or hike Dog Mountain, a popular trail that offers a birds-eye view of the river.

For access to Gifford Pinchot National Forest and water sports, check out White Salmon or nearby Bingen, which are popular with windsurfers and parasailers. In tiny Maryhill, explore a life-size replica of Stonehenge or dive into the history of the Bonneville Lock & Dam in North Bonneville.
